Orange County Superior Court Employee Carol Anderson Receives Top Honors For Making Court Forms Available on the Internet

Santa Ana, Ca - Filing forms at the Orange County Superior Court is now easier and more accessible due to the work of court employee Carol Anderson who worked with a team of court employees to successfully standardize and condense more than 60 local civil and small claims forms and make them available at no charge via the court's internet site at www.oc.ca.gov/superior/formsciv.

"The court is making its forms available on the internet for the public's convenience and to enable the court to respond quickly and accurately to forms requests," said Anderson, a Senior Supervisor in the Limited Civil and Small Claims Division. She added, "By accessing the forms from a computer with internet access eliminates the trouble of driving to the courthouse, finding a parking space, and paying a fee of 15 cents per page with a 75 cent minimum for forms."

Also within the next few weeks, the Court's internet site will have available easy to follow step by step instructions for filing an Unlawful Detainer. Although the Court cannot give legal advice or assist parties in completing the forms, general information will be provided to help individuals understand the process and how to file the appropriate forms.

Anderson, 50, of Brea, Ca will be honored for her work at the court's employee of the month celebration on Tuesday, April 4th at 8:30 a.m. in room K-100 at the Central Justice Center in Santa Ana.
